Overview

The Supporting Black Canadian Communities Initiative (SBCCI) was created by the federal government through Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) to help increase the capacity of grassroots not-for-profit organizations serving Black communities in Canada.

Using an intermediary delivery model, the initiative aims to provide funding through a fair and transparent process, and otherwise support Black community organizations across Canada by:

1. Increasing organizational capacity in the areas of:
  - Facilitating access to funding from a more diverse range of funding sources
  - Enhancing organizational governance to provide greater organizational stability and improved planning and oversight functions, with specific focus on the following:
    - Leadership and stewardship
    - Communication and transparency
    - Continuous learning and growth
    - Empowerment and accountability
    - Service and fairness
    - Accomplishment and measurement
  - Enhancing operational management effectiveness and efficiency
2. Providing capital assistance in the areas of:
  - Equipment purchases for work or community spaces, and/or renovations or retrofits of existing workspaces or community spaces owned or leased to improve functionality.
  - Renovation or retrofit projects
  - Accessibility upgrades

Capacity Building Program (CBP) Objective:

To provide project funding to support Black-led and/or Black-serving organizations to increase their organizational capacity and improve their workplaces and community spaces.

Capital Assistance Program (CAP) Objective: Provide project funding to support Black-led and/or Black-serving organizations to undertake significant capital projects that involve tangible assets like buildings, equipment, facilities, and infrastructure.

The SBCCI has four components:

1. Supporting the establishment of Canadian Institute for People of African Descent
2. Funding capital projects through the Capital Assistance Project
3. Funding capacity building projects through the Capacity Building Project
4. Providing funds for emerging priorities

These program guidelines explain components 2 and 3, the CBP and CAP respectively. With funding from the Government of Canada, SBCCI makes grants available to Black-led and Black-serving grassroots organizations across Canada.

The grants are administered by four intermediary organizations (Africa Centre, Black Business Initiative, Groupe 3737, and Tropicana Community Services) and are solely to increase the organizational capacity of the grantee organizations.

Selection of Applications

Unfortunately, not all organizations can be funded, and some may not be funded at the levels requested. All applications will be reviewed, using the criteria below and the merit of the applications submitted.

Assessment Process

1. Organization Screening

Applications will first be screened based on eligible organization type. If both the organization and the activities are eligible, the application will proceed to step 2.

2. Application Selection

High-scoring applications will be considered and selections will be guided by the additional considerations listed below.

Assessment Criteria

1a. Organization's mandate addresses social barriers because of race

The SBCCI Capacity Building grant seeks to build the capacity of Black-led and Black-serving non-profit organizations, which enables Black Canadian communities to address barriers because of race.

Application Selection Process

1	Applicants apply via online application form
2	Validation of organization eligibility
3	Assessment of applications Capacity Building and Capital Assistance project priorities set out in the application process and limited funding available for this project
4	Application selections
5	Notification of successful grant recipients
6	Signing of Grant Agreements and approved project begins
7	Reporting to intermediaries and submission to final report

- Address social barriers because of race
- Support individuals who are also part of other vulnerable populations
- Serve Black communities of specific origins in Canada
- Impact on direct services delivery that responds to the needs of the Black community by fostering partnerships with intermediary organizations and key partners
- Provide innovative solutions to complex issues of Black communities
- Budget is reasonable in relation to the amount requested
- Capacity to deliver the proposed project is demonstrated
- For Quebec only: Organization is oriented towards social economy; social economy is considered as an avenue to develop and ensure sustainability

Focus: Refer to your organization's mission, vision, values and/or services, and state how racial barriers are addressed. You should also state the nature of the racial barriers addressed by the organization's mandate.

b. Organization's mandate supports individuals who are also part of other vulnerable populations

The intersecting identities of Black Canadians face additional, or increasingly complex barriers because of other parts of their identities. SBCCI supports organizations and warrants greater inclusiveness of Black communities and seeks to ensure those facing multiple barriers are not left behind.

Focus: If applicable, make mention of how your mission, vision, and/or services provided by your organization target Black individuals that are also part of other vulnerable groups such as, but not limited to, Indigenous people, women, youth, seniors, persons with disabilities, 2SLGBTQIA+ people, persons experiencing homelessness, low-income individuals, and immigrants/refugees/newcomers, or other vulnerable populations.

2. Provide innovative solutions to complex issues of Black communities

Often, innovation is associated with technological advancement. In this case, innovation refers to doing things differently or uniquely in addressing the complex issues of Black communities. Innovation helps organizations grow and be sustainable and can also support the growth of other organizations through sharing of resources and best practices.

Focus: Mention how your organization is supporting Black communities, and what solutions your organization provide in addressing some of the complex issues faced. How is the work that you do, or the approach that you take, unique?

3a. Quality of the proposed project and its contribution to the sustainability of the organization

Proposed projects should align with the selected area of focus, and should have a clear objective, activities, outputs and outcomes. Moreover, capacity building projects should also contribute to the sustainability of the organization.

Focus: Clearly describe your project, ensuring it is applicable to the area of focus. State the objective, main activities, expected outputs/deliverables and anticipated outcomes. Describe how the project, will contribute to the sustainability of the organization both short-and long-term.

3b. Reasonableness of the budget

Budgets should be connected to the proposed project, and costs should be both eligible and reasonable.

Focus: Having described your project, connect your budget to your project, ensuring that budget items can also be identified in the description of the project. Check eligible costs in the program guidelines and ensure that costs included in the budget are eligible and within funding ranges. If possible, research your costs to ensure that they are reasonable. Elaborate on your costs in the notes/description column of your budget. Failure to submit a budget will result in denial of the application.

4. Capacity Building/Capital Assistance projects will improve/positively impact the work done by the organization

When organizations build capacity, it should impact how they do their work, which, in turn, will impact the communities that they serve.

Focus: Describe how your capacity building project connects with the services that you provide, and what benefits it will bring to your work and the community served by your organization.

5. Organizational capacity to deliver the proposed project

In addition to what may be funded by the grant, organizations should have the capacity to implement the project.

Focus: Provide information such as financial statements (audited, review engagement, notice to reader, or internally prepared), business details, CRA filing, or explanation as to why none of the above are available.

Additional Consideration

The following will be considered when assessing and selecting a diverse range of projects to fund:

- whether your organization's mandate addresses social barriers as a result of race
- whether in the delivery of your mandate or in the provision of programs and services, your organization supports Black individuals who also intersect with the following disadvantaged populations:
  - seniors
  - newcomers
  - youth

- women
- LGBTQ2
- low income
- people with disabilities
- individuals experiencing homelessness.
